Young Students Visit Their Local Air National Guard Base

By Master Sgt. Kendra M. Owenby, 134 ARW Public Affairs

McGhee Tyson Air National Guard Base was recently visited by a young group of eager “troops” who wanted to see first-hand the life of an Air Guardsman. Members of Ms. Tracy Moreno’s and Ms. Wendy Coppedge’s 1st grade class at Maryville Christian School recently visited the home of the 134th Air Refueling Wing and the 151st Air Refueling Squadron on Oct 22.

The students had recently been studying about community helpers and the tour was an addition to their studies to better help them understand the important part that the military base plays in the local community as well as around the world.

“The purpose of the trip was to observe, first hand, the helpers who keep our country free and protect us” stated Maryville Christian School Principal Robin Adams.

During their tour the children were able to interact with Tech. Sgt. Jon Crawford, Aircrew Flight Equipment Specialist, and see up close and personal items as survival flotation devices, survival rations. They were also able to take turns wearing one of the aircrew member’s helmets.

“It’s not your mother or father who deploys across the world in support of the mission to keep this great nation free who has the toughest job, it’s you – the children who have the toughest job – having to carry on back home and wait patiently for their return.” said Tech. Sgt. Crawford.

Master Sgt. Eric Jones, 151st Air Refueling Squadron Boom Operator asked “Are you guys ready to go out and see the aircraft?” The students answered in unison a big excited

“Yeah!” The students toured one of the refueling unit’s KC-135R Stratotankers, taking turns sitting in the pilot seats and pretending to take the controls. They climbed down into the “boom pod” where the refueling process takes place for a better view of the world of a boom operator.

Sgt. Jones’ son Caden is a member of the 1st grade class and had a rare opportunity to spend time in the boom pod with his father where he works when he’s away on missions. The children were excited to learn about the unit’s refueling mission and how the airmen travel around the world doing their duties.

The students were also able to tour the 134th Fire Station. They hurried to see the trucks and equipment that the fire fighters use for their missions. They were able to see up close the gear that the airmen wear for protection from the intense heat of a structure or vehicle fire.

The visit to McGhee Tyson Air National Guard Base provided an opportunity for the young visitors and their hosts to make stronger community connections. The students left with a better understanding of what the Air National Guard and 134th Air Refueling Wing’s mission is and the impact that it has on their community. The National Guard airmen got the opportunity to give back to their local community by sharing their mission with the future leaders of tomorrow.

Human trafficking awareness, education, and prevention organizations are easily located on many social media sites to include facebook. The Tennessee Human Trafficking Hotline, End Slavery in Tennessee and Human Trafficking Awareness USA are just some of these organizations that have social media links. From these links listed at the end of this article, you will be able to access other sites that will provide you with invaluable information on combating this persistent crime in Tennessee and abroad.

Human trafficking is happening everyday across the state of Tennessee; no community is immune to this horrible crime. On October 18, a Johnson City couple was charged by a federal grand jury after being accused of selling their four daughters, who ranged in age from 5 to 16, to a sex film ring. On October 31, a Memphis man was sentenced to 11 years in prison after he pled guilty to conspiracy to engage in child sex trafficking. Federal prosecutors alleged that he forced a 14 year old girl to work as a prostitute. Creating awareness and spreading information about human trafficking is essential to protecting your family and neighbors and helping those who are victims to escape their nightmare.

If you suspect human trafficking in your area please contact your local law enforcement agency or the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation at 1800-TBI-FIND. If you have further questions about human trafficking or this article please contact Lt Col James Blanton, 134 ARW/IG TIP Coordinator at 336-4444. Just as reminder, ensure that your HUMAN RELATIONS CBT and those you supervise is current. For those scheduled for OCONUS TDY/deployment, you must have completed TIP Training with the past 365 days (AFI 36-2931).

Medal of Honor Flag Raising Ceremony Kicks Off In Knoxville

The flag raising ceremony to initiate the kick off of the 2014 Medal of Honor Convention was held on Nov. 8 at the East Tennessee Veterans Memorial, World's Fair Park in downtown Knoxville. East Tennesseans will have the opportunity to hear firsthand the stories of true heroes. The individuals who have earned the nations most distinguished honor will be in Knoxville. One such hero and Medal of Honor recipient, Col. Joe Marm, was on hand for the flag-raising. Col. Marm raised the flag to signal the start of the convention. The flag will remain flying through the end of the convention in 2014 where it will be transferred to the future host city of Boston, Massachusetts. (U.S. Air National Guard photos by Master Sgt. REMEMBER: PEARL HARBOR DAY, DEC. 7, 1941

"A date that will live in infamy"...Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt

The USS Arizona Memorial (lower right) at Pearl Harbor stands as a solemn reminder of the attack on Dec. 7, 1941 that took the lives of thousands of military members and crippled the Pacific Fleet. The names of those who were killed are etched into the white walls (above and upper right). Oil still slowly bubbles to the surface (right) from the rusty sunken remains of the battleship below the surface. Bullet holes (below) can still be seen on several buildings in and around Pearl Harbor including building J at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam. (U.S. Air National Guard photos by Master Sgt. Kendra M. ANTI-TERRORISM MEASURES

Submitted by Chief Master Sgt. Terry Hickle (Ret.), 134 ARW Anti-Terrorism Officer

Skype Voicemail Service email leads to Zeus Malware

Skype has been targeted via new Spam Emails with the subject "You received a new message from the Skype Voice mail service." This message actually leads to Zeus Malware; a Trojan hacking program that attempts to steal confidential information from a compromised computer. It targets specific system information such as online credentials and banking details. The spoofed address "Skype Communications" seem genuine; it has a similar body content and the official Skype logo which typically comes with legitimate Skype voice mail alerts. The effort to make these emails look legitimate also includes links back to the actual (legitimate) Skype website.

With the holiday season upon us, more individuals will utilize Skype to communicate with their families throughout the country. This hack, while appearing legitimate, poses a real threat to those who are unfamiliar with malware dangers and simply want to ensure their Skype software is up to date.

TSA PreCheck Program Available to Military Members

Submitted by A1C Sarah Strange, 134 ARW Financial Management

TSA PreCheck is a voluntary, expedited security screening process that allows participants to keep on their shoes, belt, and light jacket, and leave laptops and 3-1-1 compliant liquids in their carry-on bags. Until December 20, 2013, service members can participate by presenting their CAC to be scanned and verified at dedicated PreCheck security lanes. After December 20, 2013, the process that Service members use to qualify for TSA PreCheck will change. Under the new process, Service members (including Reservists, National Guardsmen, and members of the Coast Guard), will use their DoD ID number as the "Known Traveler Number" when making official travel or leisure airline reservations. Participants will use this new process to use dedicated TSA PreCheck security lanes at any of the 100 airports that offer the program. A list of participating airports may be found at www.tsa.gov. Members do not have to be on official travel or in uniform to participate.

Service members can participate by using their DoD ID number (found on the back of their Common Access Card (CAC)) as the "Known Traveler Number" when making reservations through DTS, through SATO, or when booking leisure travel through the airline or travel websites.

When using DTS, enter your DoD ID number in the "Known Traveler Number" field when prompted to verify your Secure Flight Information (name, DOB, gender). To ensure you always participate in the program, save your DoD ID number in the "Known Traveler Number" field of your DTS profile.

For step-by-step instructions to update your DTS profile or for further details about the program and participating airports, please visit <http://www.defensetravel.dod.mil/site/news.cfm?ID=18>.

MEDICAL MINUTE

By Capt. Jennifer King, 134th Medical Group

As the holiday season moves into full swing, I sincerely hope this season finds you and yours in good health and high spirits. This time of year we all expect to feel peace, joy and love. Yet, for many, this can be a trying time. It is those struggling with the sadder, lonelier side of celebration that I would like to reach out to.

This past month, my family was touched by the tragedy that is suicide. Being somewhat of an outsider to the situation as I did not know the deceased, I had the unfortunate opportunity of witnessing the impact on family and friends from a very clear minded standing. Typically, at this part of the article, I would launch into statistics and theories and maybe a generic request that those suffering seek help. Right now, though, I don't care about any of that. I'm not speaking as a medical provider or a military officer. I'm taking off those hats and putting on the hats of mother, wife, sister, daughter and friend.

If you are struggling with depression, grief or suicidal thoughts, please, please, please, reach out! Let someone else stretch out their hand and bring hope into your circumstance. Even if you think no one cares, they do! Please give us the chance to show that care. Thing is, if a perfect stranger bumped into myself and my kids in the supermarket and admitted they were contemplating suicide, we would drop everything on our list that day and attend to that person's need. I believe that the great majority of people would do the same. Here in our Air National Guard family, we are not strangers! Even if I've never seen your face or heard your voice, you are my brother or sister in arms. You are important and we want the chance to meet your need.

Grab a friend or co-worker. Talk to your First Sergeant or supervisor. Our chaplains are always happy to help. Come see me up at the clinic, or Ms. Elizabeth Arnold (our MTAB Director of Psychological Health), or any of the providers. Our doors are always open! If you are unable to reach anyone in your immediate circle, there is always the TN ANG Crisis Intervention line where someone is available 24/7 at 1-855-435-7492 or the TN Suicide Prevention LifeLine at 1-800-273-TALK (8255). May you and yours have a safe and blessed season!
